Seniors Will Be Missed

It is hard to believe that linebacker Tom Cousineau (pictured on today's cover) is making his final appearance in Ohio Stadium. Hard to believe, but true nevertheless.

Cousineau, one of 21 OSU seniors who are playing the final regular season game of their careers here today, has been a pleasure to watch the past four years as he has set game (36), season (206) and career (609) records for tackles. Already a two-time all-Big Ten choice and last year a consensus all-American, the 6-3, 224-pounder is a cinch bet for similar honors again this year.

He probably will receive mention, too, in the Heisman Trophy balloting and should be a legitimate for both the Outland Trophy and the Lombardi Award. He simply is one of the top football players in the game today. In years to come, his name will be uttered in the same breath with Ike Kelley and Randy Gradishar whenever mention is made of Ohio State's greatest linebackers.

The former all-stater from Fairview Park has had a number of great games during his stay with the Buckeyes and he always seems to be at his best in the big games. His performance against Penn State this year was just awesome. He was all over the field that day, collecting 36 tackles against a team that is currently ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Muscular Tom comes into today's game with 206 tackles, including 116 solos. To show you just how important he has been to the Ohio State defense, his running mate at linebacker, sophomore Al Washington, is second in tackles with 131 (63 solos and 63 assists) and he has had a fine season.

No less important are the contributions made by the rest of this year's senior class, the backbone of any football team.

Take Kelton Dansler and Paul Ross, for example, respective and respectable three and two year starters at defensive end. Both rank among the Buckeyes top tacklers each year and it is doubtful if Ohio State has ever had a quicker pair of defensive ends.

Tackle Byron Cato, along with Cousineau one of the defensive captains, is in his second year as a starter. He has been one of the Buckeyes' most consistent performers the past two seasons.

Middle guard Mark Sullivan has been a pleasure to watch this year. After three years of understudying Aaron Brown, Sully has moved into a starting role and given the Buckeyes a fine year of football.

So, too, has defensive halfback Lenny Mills, the only senior in the secondary, and the player who has been responsible for that segment of the defense jelling in recent weeks.

And you can't overlook the contributions made by reserve linebacker Terry Vogler, tackle Joe Hornik and halfback Duncan Griffin. All have played an important role in the success of this year's team. And V. K. Kellum, the stocky walk-on middle guard, will be missed by the scout team.

The offense could lose as many as 12 seniors, although three of those, tight end Bill Jacob, center Tom Waugh and guard Ernie Andria, can have another year of eligibility if they so choose.

Lost for certain, however, are split end Rod Gerald, tailback Ron Springs, tight end Jim Moore, guard Jim Savoca, tackle Joe Robinson and center Tim Vogler, starters all, as well as reserve center Tom Waugh.

Gerald deserves a bundle of credit. After starting at quarterback for two years, the dart-like Texan who has no peer when it comes to quickness, volunteered to move to split end this year, making way for frosh signal caller Art Schlichter.

Not only has Roderic been an effective and dangerous receiver at his new position, he has also been a devastating blocker. His block on Ricky Johnson's 46 yard touchdown run last week was the block of this or any other year. Going full-speed ahead, he literally wiped out an Indiana defender, who mistakenly thought he was about to make a tackle.

Spring, of course, rushed for over 1,000 yards last year when he was the Big Ten's rushing leader. Injuries have prevented him from having a great year this year, but instead of getting down, the Williamsburg, VA native has helped understudies Cal Murray, Ricky Johnson and Ty Hicks get ready to play. That shows real leadership.

The entire group will be missed. We wish them the best of luck in the years to come.

Buck Bits . . .

Ricky Johnson was chosen as Lineman of the Week and Tom Cousineau as Buck of the Week following last week's hard fought 21-18 win over Indiana.

Johnson had the finest day of his career with 109 yards in 18 carries. The Santa Maria, Calif. junior scored what proved to be the winning touchdown when he ram-bled for 46 yards at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

Cousineau played his usual brilliant game, collecting 19 tackles, two of which were minus yardage plays.

Campbell

Johnson

Fullback Paul Campbell continues to lead the Buckeyes in rushing with 562 yards. Quarterback Art Schlichter is close behind with 488 and Ron Springs is third with 480. Reserve tailback Cal Murray is also over the 400 mark with 406 and reserve fullback Ricardo Volley has 377. Volley had 50 big yards against Indiana, including some clutch yardage in the Buckeyes' 98-yard march that came in the third period when OSU erased the Hoosiers' 10-7 halftime lead.

Schlichter also leads the team in scoring with 11 touchdowns, two more than the hard-running Campbell. Kicker Vlade Janakievski is a solid third with 43 points. Vlade has now reeled off 31 straight successful extra points. During his career he has hit 84 of 86 attempts.

Tyrone Hicks has become one of the Big Ten's premiere kick returners. Hicks easily leads the Buckeyes in that department with 368 yards.

In the receiving department, sophomore Doug Donley continues to be the pace setter for the Buckeyes with 21 catches for 466 yards, a 22.1 average. Rod Gerald is second with 12 catch receptions and Springs has nine.

Schlichter now has 1,002 in the air and 1,490 in total offense. The single season OSU record for total offense is 1781, set by Cornelius Greene in 1974.

This is the 75th meeting between OSU and Michigan. The Wolverines lead the series.

Meet The Buckeyes

RON BARWIG

Starts at tight end when the Buckeyes use two tights . . . used primarily as a blocker, but has good hands and can catch the ball . . . at 6'8" he is the tallest player ever to play at OSU . . . missed three games this year because of tonsillitis . . . two of the big junior's three receptions this year came against Purdue . . . missed all of the 1976 season because of knee surgery . . . a first team all-Ohio selection at Wiloughby South High School . . . captained his high school football and basketball teams . . . majoring in forestry at Ohio State.

TIM BURKE

Backs up Keith Ferguson at left offensive tackle . . . has played in all ten of the Buckeyes games this season . . . has seen only limited action up until this year, but has always worked hard and made a solid contribution . . . has developed into a player that can help in crucial situations . . . a knee injury in practice last year forced him to miss the Sugar Bowl . . . was all Ohio tackle at Wapakoneta High School . . . in the college of Arts and Sciences . . . a senior.

JIM LAUGHLIN

Backs up Kelton Dansler at the boundary outside linebacker position . . . can play the open side, too, if necessary . . . had 39 tackles through the Buckeyes' first ten games . . . his blocked punt at Wisconsin resulted in the Buckeyes' go ahead touchdown . . . played in all 12 games last year as a sophomore . . . an honor student in business . . . the starting right fielder on the OSU baseball team last year . . . won nine letters at Brush High . . . captained his football and basketball teams.

ALVIN WASHINGTON

Starts at the boundary inside linebacker position . . . credited with 131 tackles in the Buckeyes first 10 games, the second highest total on the team . . . has been one of OSU's most consistent young players . . . had 12 tackles in a little over a quarter against Illinois before being injured . . . lettered last year as a freshman when he had 21 tackles and one interception in 11 games . . . played tight end and fullback in high school in addition to linebacker . . . all-Ohio in both football and basketball . . . caught 10 TD passes as a senior.

After the game, tackle a T-Bone at Ponderosa

Here's a great after-game plan—a thick, juicy T-Bone steak with baked potato, warm roll and butter, and unlimited refills from our salad bar. Now that's a meal fit for a pro—and at a winning price, too. So line up the whole family for your own "T" formation—delicious Ponderosa steak dinners prepared the way you like them.

Goodyear's Silver Lady

Everyone likes a challenge! Take your average, freckled-faced, red-blooded collegiate lineman whose football workouts include daily stints in the weight-room where he endures a grueling series of bench-pressing 200-pounds of iron.

Fun? Hardly. A challenge? Slightly, but a monotonous one. "I'd rather lift Volkswagens," said a beefy offensive tackle from a mid-western university.

"Blimps are easier," offered a bespectacled bystander. "I've lifted one. And you could probably throw one."

"You've WHAT?" retorted the incredulous lineman as he sized up the intruder's frail frame and toothpick arms. "You're lucky you can lift a spoon. Beat it, kid!"

"Have it your way," said the scrawny student to the fiesty footballer, "but anytime you want to make a bet . . . I'm ready. The Goodyear Blimp will be here this weekend for the ABC-TV game and $100 says that I can lift it."

"Get lost," thundered the player, little realizing that he would have lost the wager had he called the weaker man's blimp bluff.

Impossible, you say, to lift a massive airship (192 feet long, 59 feet high, and 50 feet wide) which weighs in excess of 12,000 pounds? "It can be done and rather easily at that," said Capt. Nick Nicolary, pilot-in-charge of the California-based Columbia, one of Goodyear's three airships operating in the United States today.

"Of course," the skipper was quick to add, "the ship must be filled with helium (202,700 cubic feet worth) which displaces all but 50 pounds of the blimp. Anybody who can handle 50 pounds can push around a blimp when it's ready for takeoff."

So goes what is just a small part of the legendary Goodyear Blimp, an aerial ambassador of good will which is as much a part of ABC Sports' coverage of college football as song girls and marching bands.

"There's rarely a campus we visit that I'm not asked 'when's the blimp coming?'" said Chuck Howard, Vice President for Production at ABC Sports and the producer of ABC's main 'Game of the Week.'

Goodyear's silver ladies have been circling over college campuses for the past 15 football seasons and ABC cameraman Bill Sullivan, a 25-year veteran with the network and an aerial specialist, remembers the early days.

"We used a regular studio camera then," Sullivan said. "We mounted the camera on 2 x 4's which we had to bolt to the floor. It was a bit clumsy, but we got the job done. It's amazing how technology has advanced over the years."

Advance technology notwithstanding, blimp personnel still must contend with Mother Nature whose control of the weather has created some interesting predicaments.

"I remember," said a smiling Sullivan, "when we encountered a dense blanket of fog at the end of one football game and we had to dip low enough in order to count bridges to find our way home. We took a turn at a stoplight and followed the lights of a car to our destination."

The Columbia's Capt. Nicolary explained that blimps have priority over any other aircraft in the immediate vicinity and that Goodyear is granted a special waiver (by the FAA) to fly as low as 800 feet.

The TV camera in the blimp is a $75,000 Fernseh which weighs 27 pounds and has a 35-pound Schneider lens which has a wide-angle, magnifying ability of 30-to-1.

"Taking an overhead play-action shot looks like an exact duplicate of a blackboard diagram," Nicolary said.

Cameraman Sullivan praises Goodyear for its role in pioneering television pictures from the airship. "It's been a long, evolutionary process," Sully said, "and Goodyear was the first to use long lenses. What they have accomplished has been unbelievable and our medium has been much the better for it."

The rotund silver lady, with its famed winged-foot trademark emblazoned on its sides, is an institution, indeed. And is a proud part of ABC Sports and college football.

Head Coach Woody Hayes

A legend in his own lifetime, Woody Hayes is now in his 28th year at Ohio State.

Coming into the 1978 season, the 65-year old Hayes owned 231 career victories in 32 years as a head coach. That total placed him second among all active major college coaches in number of wins and left him in fourth place on the all-time victory list.

In 27 seasons at Ohio State, Woody has amassed 198 victories, an average of 7.3 per season. His Big Ten record as of last November was 146-35-9 and included 13 conference titles and ten major bowl appearances. Under Hayes, the Buckeyes have either won outright or shared the conference title each of the last six years, an accomplishment that is unprecedented in Big Ten history.

Additionally, over the past 25 years, Hayes-coached teams have posted a record of 183-46-7. That works out to a winning percentage of .790, the best winning percentage in college football during the last quarter of a century.

Listed below are some of Coach Hayes' many accomplishments coming into the current campaign:

- * A 32-year record of 231-68-9
- * A record of 198-57-9 at Ohio State
- * 25 winning seasons in 27 tries
- * A current string of 11 consecutive winning seasons
- * Three national titles
- * 13 Big Ten titles
- * Six consecutive Big Ten titles
- * Six consecutive major bowl appearances
- * Twice Coach of the Year
- * 57 First team all-Americans
- * Four Heisman Trophy winners

BE IT "OLD MAN" OR "THE JUICE" MURRAY HAS AN ACT THAT CAN'T MISS

Buckeye running back Calvin Murray is known to his teammates as either "Old Man" in honor of his mature appearance, or "The Juice" in honor of his running style, which is similar to that of the legendary O. J. Simpson.

"I don't mind the nicknames," says Calvin, a deceptively strong 5-11, 185-pounder. "It's all in fun. O.J. has been my idol since high school. It's a compliment to be compared to him."

Nicknames aside, Murray possesses some aspects of Simpson's style of running. Perhaps the ability to break tackles is the Woodbine, New Jersey sophomore's biggest asset.

Though not as big or as fast as O.J., Murray gets the job done. Despite being hampered by injuries, the Buckeye tailback has rushed for 406 yards on 62 carries for a team-leading 6.5 yards per carry average. While scoring two touchdowns and gaining 55 yards on one run alone, he has caught four passes for 64 yards and returned six kickoffs for 160 yards.

OSU assistant coach Mickey Jackson says Murray gives you the feeling he can break the long one every time he carries the ball. "Calvin is a very intense football player," observed Jackson. "He gives you everything he's got on every play. He doesn't look strong enough to get through, but he breaks tackles. He doesn't look extremely fast, but he outruns people."

What's the secret to Murray's success? He says it's just a God-given talent.

"It's God-given ability. It just happens," says Murray. "It (breaking tackles) all depends on how bad I want to avoid going down. God gave me the ability to keep going, and I thank him for it."

Intensity is also a big plus for the sophomore tailback. "That's just me," says Calvin. "When I know I'm going to carry the ball, I just say I've got to break it. I tell myself, 'I've got to Bust it! Bust it! Bust it!'"

Before the current season began, Murray expected to be sharing backup duty with Ricky Johnson, behind senior Ron Springs. Injuries have limited Springs' playing time, however, and Calvin has come through when he's been called upon.

"I expected to play some, but not this much," admitted the running back. "I've gotten more playing time than I thought I would. I'm just glad I was ready."

A jammed toe (turf toe) hampered Murray after the SMU game, and more recently a helmet bruise on his right ankle has slowed him down. Calvin plans to be ready for Michigan, however.

A four-sport start in high school, Murray gained 2,485 yards and scored 29 touchdowns for Millsville Senior High. He earned three letters each in football and basketball and one in track and baseball. A versatile athlete, he played halfback on offense, safety on defense and was the kickoff and extra point specialist.

While Calvin favors John Wayne westerns, Richard Pryor comedy and Diana Ross musicals, his favorite book is The Bible. He's proud of his religious beliefs and comes by them naturally, from a close-knit, religious family.

Back home in New Jersey, Murray gets almost as much pleasure from gliding down the road on his motorcycle as he does gliding past tacklers on the football field. Motorcycle riding is strictly an off-season activity, however.

After an excellent spring practice last year and a fine showing in the current season, Murray's football future appears to be set, but the sophomore standout is already thinking of ways he can improve.

"One thing I'm going to have to do is get a little bigger," he says. "I plan to put on some more weight. That should help me to be more durable." A summer of feasting on his mother's meatloaf should solve the problem.

Keeping the Faith is also important to Murray as he looks to the future.

"When I came here as a freshman, I put my football career in God's hands," he said. "I'll just do my part and let Him take care of the rest. It's up to Him."

With speed, attitude and intensity, Murray appears to have all the necessary ingredients for stardom. He's got a class act that's sure to be a hit, on the football or off.

Beefed-Up Schedule May be Hard For Buck Grapplers to Swallow

Chris Ford

Phil Anglin

Ohio State wrestling coach Chris Ford doesn't beat around the bush.

When Ford took the reins at OSU two years back, one of his first priorities was to toughen up the Bucks' schedule. To say that he has succeeded would be an understatement.

Defending national champion Iowa visits the Buckeyes November 30 to open the 1977-78 season and 16 other members of last year's Top 20 will test OSU later in the campaign. Ohio State's schedule has to rank as one of the toughest in the nation.

Will the beefed-up schedule be a bigger bite than the Buckeyes can chew? Ford admits the upcoming season will be a challenge, but he predicts a winning record.

"This year I think we'll have a winning season, finally," said Ford, who has guided the Bucks to a two-year mark of 14-19-1. "But, our record may be around the .500 mark," he added.

Ford says he has had to build up OSU's wrestling slate to attract the state's top grapplers, but he admits it has been rough doing it. "We're competitive with these teams, but we're probably a year or two away from beating them."

The Buckeye coach believes his program can be among the nation's elite with grapplers from Ohio only. This year's squad, with 50 to 51 members from the Buckeye State, reflects the coach's philosophy.

Ranked 16th in the nation at one time a year ago, the Buckeyes suffered a slump at season's end, caused partly by a rash of injuries, and ended up ninth in the Big 10 (strongest wrestling league in the nation according to Ford) and unranked nationally.

Ford feels his team has the potential to place as high as fourth in the Big 10 Tournament in February and attain national ranking.

Start with the return of all of last year's top grapplers, and add Andy DiSabato and Len DeAugustino, who are coming back after a year's absence, and you have the basis for Ford's feelings of optimism.

"With the experience factor and the addition of DiAugustino and DiSabato, we're a much better team," said Ford, whose top 10 of last season included six freshmen.

Apparently, the Buckeyes only weakness may be a lack of bench strength. "Our bench strength is better, but it's still not as good as the tougher foes on our schedule," said Ford.

The return of DiSabato (DeSales), a tri-captain along with Jimmy Anderson (Toledo) and Bruce Solomon (Warrensville), should give the Bucks a boost. An All-American two years back with an overall record of 20-3-2, DiSabato was out of school last year for personal reasons. Ford says the senior grappler, who competes in the 150-pound class, looks better than ever in practice.

DiAugustino (West Mifflin, Pa.), who had a 9-6-2 mark at 118 pounds two years back, will be eligible in January, but he will have to beat out returning starter Joe Briggs (Upper Arlington) and freshman Chris Marinelli (Northland) for the top spot.

Sophomore Jeff Woo (Willowick) is back at 126, after logging a 19-10 record a year ago. Ford feels he has a good shot at national honors.

At 134, soph Kelvin Irby (Sandusky) appears to have the top spot nailed down. Ineligible after the first quarter a year ago, Irby had an 8-4 record.

Last season soph Phil Anglim (Watterson) wrestled against six All-Americans in the 142-pound class and held his own against most of them. A two-time state champ in high school, Anglim should be set to better last year's 15-9-1 mark.

Tri-captain Bruce Solomon turned in a 24-13-1 record last season in the 158-pound class, and finished third in the Big 10. He just missed making All-America last year, but Ford thinks he'll make it in '79.

Sophomore John Schultz (Centerville) has the lead over returning starter Jay Greiner (Hilliard) in the 167-pound class. Schultz was state AAA runner-up in high school.

Jimmy Anderson, another of the Bucks' three captains, rang up a 17-14 mark a year ago in the 190-pound class. The junior pulled out a lot of good matches for OSU, according to Ford, and is back at his old spot.

Sandusky senior David Mulvin returns in the heavyweight division. Mulvin, a 202-pounder, was 7-14 a year ago while competing against much heavier foes.

Another Sandusky product, 241-pound soph Luther Henson, will give the Bucks further help at heavyweight when he completes his chores as a defensive tackle with the football team.

Ford picks Woo, Anglim, DiSabato, Solomon and DeAugustino as grapplers who could place in the top eight nationally and earn All-America honors. The coach feels DiSabato is a good bet for national champ in the 150-pound class.

President-elect of the Division I Wrestling Coaches Association, Ford says that seven of the Bucks' 10 losses last season were decided by one match. He feels his team is very close to reaching national prominence.

With an upset here and an upset there, the Buckeyes could jump into the national limelight this season. Nothing would please Chris Ford more.

Meet the OSU Football Staff

Over the years college football has become a game of great complexities and enormous intricacies, making it necessary for every head coach to surround himself with a staff of capable, hard working, knowledgeable assistants.

"A coach is only as good as his assistants," declares Ohio State coach Woody Hayes, unhesitatingly. "The game has become too specialized for one man to do it all by himself."

Accordingly, Hayes has put together a staff of eight full-time assistants, who aid him in the task of making the Ohio State program one of the most successful in the country.

Here is that staff for you to meet:

GEORGE CHAUMP — With the retirement last spring of Esco Sarkkinen, Chaump becomes the senior assistant on the OSU staff in terms of length of service. A 1958 graduate of Bloomsburg State, George has been with the Buckeyes since 1968 as quarterback and split end coach. He has developed a number of standout signal callers in those ten years, including Rex Kern, Cornelius Greene and Rod Gerald. While a high school coach at John Harris High School in Harrisburg, Chaump, who has introduced many innovative ideas at OSU, posted a six year record of 58-4.

GEORGE HILL — The Buckeyes' defensive coordinator and linebacker coach, George is in his eighth year on the OSU staff. Under Hill's guidance the Ohio State defense has become one of the most formidable in college football, annually ranking near the top in most of the NCAA's defensive statistics. Over the past five seasons, the OSU defense has allowed an average of just 9.7 points a game. Hill, who has also coached at Findlay College, Denison, Cornell and Duke, has produced a number of great linebackers, including two-time all-American Randy Gradishar.

MICKEY JACKSON — A former standout running back at Marshall, where as a senior he finished fourth nationally in scoring, Mickey coaches the running backs at Ohio State. He holds the distinction of being the only coach in the history of college football to produce consecutive Heisman Trophy winners, Archie Griffin in 1974 and 1975. Following his graduation from Marshall, he spent four years at his alma mater as coach of the offensive backs and receivers. In early 1974 he accepted a similar position at Miami (O.), but left the Oxford, O. school after just six months to join the Buckeyes.

ALEX GIBBS — In four years at Ohio State, Alex has become one of the Buckeyes' most popular coaches. He has also impressed everyone with his knowledge of the game and great enthusiasm. When Alex joined the staff he was assigned to the offensive guards and centers. The next year the staff was realigned and Alex moved to the defense, where he coached the down linemen. There were more changes last year and Alex moved back to the offense to again tutor the guards and centers. A native of North Carolina, Gibbs is a graduate of Davidson.

DAVE ADOLPH — A member of the OSU staff since January of 1977, Dave coaches the defensive tackles and middle guards for the Buckeyes. A graduate of Akron, where he was an outstanding athlete and scholar, prior to coming to Ohio State, Adolph coached at Akron, Connecticut, Kentucky and Illinois. He turned out his first OSU all-American last year, middle guard Aaron Brown.

BILL MYLES — In his second year at Ohio State, Bill coaches the offensive ends and tackles for the Buckeyes. His prize pupil last year was Chris Ward, who was a consensus all-American and voted as the nation's top lineman by the College Football Writers. A native of Kansas City, Missouri, Myles is a graduate of Drake, where he played center and linebacker. After graduation he spent seven years as a high school coach before moving on to the University of Nebraska as freshman coach. He later coached the offensive line and linebackers for the Cornhuskers.

GARY TRANQUILL — Like Myles, Gary is in his second year with the Buckeyes. A graduate of Wittenberg, where he was a Little all-America quarterback, Tranquill coaches the defensive secondary at OSU. The winner of eight varsity letters at Wittenberg, Gary coached eight years at his alma mater, working with the defensive backs. He has also coached at Ball State, Bowling Green and Navy. He was the secondary coach at Ball State and BG, but worked with the quarterbacks and wide receivers at Navy.

GLEN MASON — A 1972 graduate of Ohio State, Glen is the newest member of the Buckeye staff, signing on in April as a replacement for Esco Sarkkinen as coach of the outside linebackers. Mason won a varsity football letter as a reserve middle guard for the Buckeyes in 1970. He was slated to start the following year, but a broken ankle ended his playing career. He began coaching in 1972 at Ball State and has also coached at Allegheny College, Iowa State and Illinois.

4th and one and we PUNT!?! If I were Woody, I would've...

Hindsight is always better than foresight, and that's what makes the Buckeye Grid-a-Phone Show on WBNS Radio the liveliest, most controversial and most entertaining wrap-up to an afternoon of Ohio State Football. Live from the Jai-Lai Restaurant right after every Buckeye game, WBNS Sports Director John Gordon, Roy Dittman and P. J. Ryal bring you game highlights, interviews from the Stadium, and up-to-the-minute scores from across the nation.

And they field calls from those wonderfully happy (and terribly irate) Buckeye fans who colorfully express their opinions on the game.

After the game, test your

Joseph H. Lynch

Enthusiasm for medieval studies and empathy with the students are the keys to the teaching success of Joseph H. Lynch.

Lynch, associate professor of history and director of Ohio State's Center for Medieval Studies, is one of the recipients of the 1978 Distinguished Teaching Award.

"You have to be enthusiastic about what you are doing," Lynch said. His animated speech instantly dispels any image of a crusty history professor lecturing on the finer points of scholastic philosophy in Latin.

"You have to imagine yourself as a student," he said, noting that most students aren't interested in knowing all the details of their professor's academic specialty.

With undergraduates you must bring the subject matter into line with their own experience and "must make a great effort to hook on to something that makes it real," he said.

Lynch, who graduated from Boston College in 1965 and has master's and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard, has written a book which describes the medieval practice of families paying a bribe to get a son or daughter admitted to a monastery or convent. Currently he is preparing a book on the social relations of godparents in the Middle Ages and is studying the only Catholic religious order founded in England.

Professor Lynch Professor Longenecker

Marlene Longenecker

Marlene Longenecker says there isn't anything identifiably unique about her teaching that has qualified her to win the 1978 Alumni Distinguished Teaching Award.

"I love teaching, and that is the secret," she said.

Longenecker, an associate professor of English and vice chairperson of her department, says, "I really care about what the students learn, and I feel there is a larger stake — moral, social, political and humanistic — in what I teach. I think it is important and I think I make them feel it is important."

Longenecker, who joined the Ohio State faculty in 1972, credits the growth of her classroom skills to teaching a wide variety of courses to freshmen and sophomores as well as to advanced students.

Her primary academic interest is English and American romanticism. Her responsibility for several courses in women's studies has helped her develop a feminist interpretation in her academic work.

Longenecker believes the alumni award is important because teaching at the university is sometimes overshadowed by research and publication. "This is one of the few times when the real mission of the university is fully recognized, and I am grateful for that — not only for myself but for the entire community," she said.

The Alumni Distinguished Teaching Awards

The University annually presents several $1,000 Alumni Awards for Distinguished Teaching, sponsored by the Alumni Association and the Development Fund, to recognize and give evidence of the importance placed on superior teaching at Ohio State and to provide encouragement and incentive for teaching achievement. A committee that included student, faculty and alumni members selected this year's eight winners based on nominations from those same groups. Two of Ohio State's 1978 Distinguished Teachers are profiled here.

The New Chevrolet.

The 1979 Caprice Classic.

America has driven it to the top.

In just two short years over a million people have bought and enjoyed The New Chevrolet Caprice and Impala. Pretty darn impressive.

Of course, one reason for the success of The New Chevrolet is that it's simply a very beautiful car. And we suggest the '79 version is even more beautiful.

But then we know it takes more than beauty to become the most popular car in America. It takes roominess. It takes some very impressive standard features. It takes a smooth, comfortable ride. And more.

The New Chevrolet for 1979. Pleasing to the eye. Pleasing in lots of other ways, too.

It's no wonder America's driven it to the top. See your Chevrolet dealer.

You're invited to visit the Chevrolet "Locker Room" exhibit at the National Football Foundation's new College Football Hall of Fame at King's Island (25 miles north of Cincinnati). This unique museum lets you participate in the fascinating history of college football. Don't miss it.

Michigan

Academically, Michigan ranks among the foremost universities in America. A survey of professional school deans not long ago rated U-M in the top 10 in 13 of the 18 professional areas surveyed, "the best overall record" in the words of The Los Angeles Times. The survey found "Five universities with outstanding reputations — Berkeley, Chicago, Columbia, Harvard and Michigan — have the greatest numbers of top-ranking professional schools."

Other recent surveys have found the following: more Ph.D. degrees (2,894) were awarded by U-M from 1973 through 1976 than from any other U.S. college or university; the College of Engineering was first for graduate level academics in three of seven fields surveyed; deans of business administration schools placed the employment value of a U-M M.B.A. degree among the top five and rated Michigan's executive programs among the top four; more top business executives earned degrees from U-M than from any other public college or university; and medical school faculty members ranked U-M among the top eight such schools.

U-M students appreciate this, evidently. The majority of students in 554 classes last year rated 90 per cent of their courses as "excellent". Ninety per cent of the classes rated the instructor as an excellent teacher. The U-M faculty survey noted the results are quite different from the stereotype of the large, "mass education" university one hears about.

Michigan's 19 schools and colleges cover the spectrum of human knowledge. To them for an education have come more than 240,000 degree holders, including the three-man crew of Apollo 15. Every year about 18 per cent of the student body comes from all the other states in the nation, while another 3.7 per cent are from some 100 other countries.

Fourth Season Leach's Finest

The odds of any athlete quarterbacking a major college football team for four straight seasons are slim, but in the case of Michigan's Rick Leach, they were even more improbable.

First, there was a lucrative bonus contract offer from the Philadelphia Phillies after he graduated from Flint Southwestern High. Rick rejected that opportunity.

Then, there was the matter of making the team. When Leach, a shaggy-haired freshman with barely 180 pounds covering his 6-foot-1 frame, reported to Michigan football practice late in August of 1975, he was one of five quarterback candidates. It was not until the Friday night before Michigan's opener against Wisconsin that Coach Bo Schembechler told him he would start.

Then came three seasons where injury always was present. Finally, last spring, after winning the Big Ten batting championship, Leach again was high on the major league draft possibilities. He eliminated himself from that list by telling baseball people he would play his senior year of football at Michigan.

Schembechler was not surprised. "He's a football player," says Bo. "Rick's done everything we asked of him, and that has been a lot. I wouldn't trade him for any college football player in the country."

Leach originally felt his future would be tied to baseball, but despite leading Michigan team in hitting for three straight seasons, he's not as convinced as he once was. "I feel I'm reaching my peak as a football player and I hope to improve," offers Leach. "So, we'll just wait and see what happens."

Leach has improved dramatically from his freshman season when he admits, "I was learning to become a quarterback right on the field with 100,000 people watching every Saturday." He completed 32 passes that year, raised that to 50 completions as a sophomore and last year had 90 completions for 1348 yards and an impressive 15 touchdown passes.

He has broken virtually all Michigan's career passing and total offense records. He has averaged 6.33 yards passing and running the football, a figure exceeded only by triple-threat tailback Bob Chappuis who finished his war-interrupted career at Michigan in 1947 with a 6.53 per play average.

Michigan's team success has been closely tied to Leach's performances as the Wolverines won two Big Ten championships, played in the Orange Bowl and twice in the Rose Bowl and compiled a record of 28-6-2 since 1975.

Leach last season earned the rare honor of being voted the Big Ten's football Player of the Week in the fall and the Big Ten's Athlete of the Week for his baseball performance in the spring. He has been named to the All-Big Ten first teams in both football and baseball.

"His senior season should be his best," Bo says of his quarterback. "If it is, I think Michigan football will be just fine."

Michigan Quarterback Rick Leach

Here's the best gift idea of the year. Kroger Command Performance Steaks. Let us pick and package some for you.

Command Performance Steaks

When America's third largest beef retailer sets out to find a really good steak, you can bet he'll find it. It stands to reason.

The Kroger Co. operates 1,234 supermarkets in 21 states, where we sell enormous amounts of beef—good beef. Kroger is less widely known as a supplier of beef to fine restaurants, and as a packer of gift steak packages, but we sell a lot of beef that way, too—excellent beef.

We call our gift steaks COMMAND PERFORMANCE steaks because they're specially selected, out of the ordinary steaks. We recommend them for your own use, for personal gifts, business gifts or business incentive awards.

Available are luscious Filets Mignon in two sizes, majestic Porterhouse Steaks, regal boneless Rib Steaks, princely semi-boneless Strip Steaks, queenly boneless Rib Eye Steaks, peerless boneless Sirloin Strip Steaks.

Steaks are individually wrapped, then flash-frozen and placed in handsome foil-lined gift boxes. These, in turn, are placed in sturdy reusable insulated picnic coolers for delivery anywhere within the continental United States.

Please let us send you our complete informative brochure about our COMMAND PERFORMANCE steaks (mail this coupon today), or just phone us at (614) 861-1560.

D. James Hilliker

James Hilliker was first appointed to the Board of Trustees of the Ohio State University Nov. 4, 1975, to fill the unexpired term of former Trustee William C. Safford, who resigned to become a member of the Ohio Board of Regents.

He was reappointed to the nine-member board May 13, 1976, for a term which will expire May 13, 1985. He was named chairman of the newly created Student Services Committee of the board in September.

Mr. Hilliker is vice president and treasurer of Better Food Systems Inc., of Bellefontaine, and serves as general counsel for the Don M. Hilliker Co., a Bellefontaine development firm.

He holds two degrees from Ohio State. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration in 1969 and the juris doctor degree, cum laude, from the College of Law in 1973.

He attended the University of Florida from 1965 to 1967 after graduation from Bellefontaine High School.

Mr. Hilliker was admitted to the Ohio State Bar in 1974. He is a member of both the Ohio State and the American Bar Associations.

He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and was president in 1969. He also is a member of the Ohio State University Alumni Association.

His wife, the former Linda Kerns, also graduated from Ohio State. She received the bachelor of arts degree in history in 1969.

Mr. Hilliker was born in Ft. Thomas, Ky. He and his wife and two daughters live in Bellefontaine.

Mr. Hilliker's father, Don M. Hilliker, was a member of the Ohio State Board of Trustees from 1967 to 1975.

OSU women athletes take national limelight

Canadian National Junior Team member Mary Ormsby (7) sets OSU spiker DiAnn Gorham, who competed at the National Olympic Sports Festival last summer in Colorado Springs.

Ohio state first entered the national limelight in women's athletics in 1941 — and is still there. The golf tournament the University organized and hosted 37 years ago was the first national collegiate competition ever in women's sports.

Two generations later, a concerted effort by Ohio State's athletic department and administration to bring women's sports programs onto par with those for men is producing topflight women athletes playing topflight competition.

Setting the pace among 12 Lady Buckeye sports teams are the synchronized swimmers. Under coaching of Mary Jo Ruggieri, they have taken back-to-back national titles.

Basketball coach Debbie Wilson's teams are 121-26 the last six years and have topped the Big 10 three years running and the state tournament six times in a row.

Since Ohio State merged its sports programs for men and women in 1974, the University's investment in women's athletics has jumped 15-fold — to $700,000 this year.

Eighty-two women are receiving at least partial grants-in-aid, including 35 full grants.

In addition to the 12 full-time head coaches, 10 graduate assistant coaches, and the student managers and trainers for each varsity team, a network of behind-the-scenes personnel guarantees a smooth-running operation.

A certified women's athletic trainer and the staff of the sports medicine clinic oversee the health of the women athletes. Equipment managers outfit the OSU teams with the finest equipment and uniforms. And a women's sports information service was established this year.

Plainly, women's athletics at Ohio State have blossomed.

Said Hugh Hindman, Ohio State athletic director, speaking of the future of women's athletics:

"Even without the force of government regulation behind its policy, Ohio State has always dealt with women's athletics with one thought in mind: Quality is the by-word for all intercollegiate athletics at this University.

"The program has developed to a degree envied by most of the country, but we have not finished. There are still areas needing improvement to keep us in the forefront of the movement to develop women's athletics.

"Those are the concerns we will address in our next phase of growth."

At the end of this season, this team will be number one.

The Kodak All-America Team

It's one of the oldest and smallest teams in college football. It doesn't have a win-loss record. It doesn't set rushing records, and it has never scored a touchdown. Yet, at the end of the 1978 season, the Kodak All-America Team will be the number one team in college football.

What this team will have is the 22 very best players of the season. Twenty-two men who have earned the right to be called All-American. No amount of popularity or publicity can put a player on this team if he doesn't deserve to be there. It is a distinction which is earned with outstanding ability, sportsmanship and leadership. And these players have to prove themselves to the toughest coaches of all, the American Football Coaches Association.

The Kodak All-America Team is

The 1978 Kodak All-Americans
...watch for them.

A KODAK SPORTS PROGRAM

the only team which represents the choice of the more than 2,000 college and university coaches who are the American Football Coaches Association. Their standards are exacting, for this is a team that for 89 years has included the greatest names in college football.

The 1978 Kodak All-America Team has yet to be selected. The field is large, for there are more than 12,000 players from which to choose. But when the season ends, a handful of men will have distinguished themselves, and earned the honor of being on the number one team in college football.

The Graduate Assistants

There are 13 endowed faculty chairs at The Ohio State University. These chairs, supported by major private gifts to the university through the Development Fund, allow Ohio State to enrich its academic programs by providing students and faculty with direct access to and contact with eminent men and women representing the very best in thought and scholarship in their fields.

DISTINGUISHED PROFESSORS: Examples of Excellence

Albert Shapero

Professor Albert Shapero joins Ohio State this fall as the William H. Davis Professor in the American Free Enterprise System. His appointment is in the faculty of management science in the College of Administrative Science.

A professor of management science at the University of Texas Graduate School of Business for 10 years prior to assuming this newly established position, Shapero is a leading scholar in the area of entrepreneurship. He has taught as visiting faculty at the International Institute for Management of Technology in Milan, Italy, at the MIT Sloan School and at the University of South Africa and Stellenbosch University, Republic of South Africa.

He is president of the Society for Entrepreneurship Research and Application and he chaired the first International Meeting on Entrepreneurship and Economic Development, held in 1975.

Professor Shapero has written almost a hundred book chapters, monographs, invited papers, reports and articles on various subjects relevant to economic and industrial development. Recent articles for the mass media include: "You Can't Do In All Long Distance," in the February 1977 issue of Fortune; "What Management Says and Whelma hat Managers Do," in the May 1976 issue of Fortune; and "The Displaced, Uncomfortable Entrepreneur," in the November 1975 issue of Psychology Today. He also contributes a regular column to Chemtech, the journal of the American Chemical Society.

The Davis Professorship is supported by a gift from William H. Davis, a Columbus businessman and 1926 graduate of the College of Administrative Science. It was created to "develop knowledge and understanding of the continuing entrepreneurial role in the American economy and the impact on and by that role of the free enterprise system."

Welcome home to dinner.

Right here in Columbus there's a restaurant that takes you back home. Back East to a New England shore dinner, down South to Creole cookery, through apple-fragrant kitchens of the Heartlands, to the spicy flavors of the Southwest. All this is One Nation, the one restaurant where you come home to American cooking. One Nationwide Plaza. 221-0001 for reservations.

American Express, other major credit cards honored.

And you're proud of it! Bright gold-color letters tell everyone that you're an OSU enthusiast! Wear it to all the ballgames, or to class! For guys and gals alike—even wear it as a tie pin! By Biagi, $10. Fashion Jewelry D141, Downtown on 1, Northland, Eastland, Westland, Kingsdale.

Big Ten Basketball Better Than Ever

Big Ten basketball, always an exciting, high quality athletic extravaganza, figures to have one of its very best seasons in 1978-79.

Last winter's race went down to the final week with four teams in contention for at least a title tie. Only then did Michigan State surge to a final three-game victory margin over Indiana and Minnesota. The Spartans and Hoosiers went on to NCAA tournament participation.

This upcoming race may be even closer and with more teams involved in the title scramble. Virtually all the schools anticipate improved clubs. Even those which suffered heavy personnel losses — most notably Minnesota and Purdue — are optimistic.

Established stars like the Buckeyes' Kelvin Ransey and Herb Williams, Earvin Johnson and Greg Kelser (Michigan State), Phil Hubbard and Mike McGee (Michigan), Joe Barry Carroll (Purdue), Mike Woodson and Ray Tolbert (Indiana), Ronnie Lester (Iowa), Mark Smith (Illinois), Claude Gregory (Wisconsin), Kevin McHale (Minnesota), and Mike Campbell (Northwestern) grace every roster.

Recruiting seemed to be a bonanza for everyone, so new sensations such as Johnson, McGee, Williams and Tolbert were last year, may be anticipated.

Seven of last year's first and second team All-Big Ten wire service selections — Johnson, Lester, Ransey, McGee, Kelser, Woodson and Carroll — will be back in action again. So will seven each of the top ten scorers and rebounders.

Two new head coaches will get their baptism in the rugged Big Ten action. They are Lee Rose, who succeeds Fred Schaus at Purdue and Rich Falk, who steps in for Tex Winter at Northwestern. Rose comes from North Carolina/Charlotte where he built a brilliant record and Falk was most recently the key assistant to Winter at Northwestern. He was a star player for the Wildcats in the 1960's.

Here's a capsule commentary on prospects of the ten teams with the exception of Ohio State which was previewed two weeks ago in the program.

Illinois — Derek Holcomb, a 6-11 junior center who transferred in from Indiana, and brilliant 6-9 freshman prospect James Griffin could spark a quick Illini return to cage prominence. Solid veterans include Steve Lanter and Rob Judson.

Indiana — Returning regulars Mike Woodson and Ray Tolbert plus eight other lettermen and three outstanding freshmen prospects topped by 6-10 Landon Turner make the Hoosiers a title contender again. Emphasis again will be on tough defense.

Iowa — Snake bit with injuries last year, the Hawkeyes expect great improvement from a club paced by Ronnie Lester, Clay Hargrave and Vince Brookins. Kevin Boyle (6-6) is a top freshman and Steve Krafscin (6-10) is a highly regarded transfer.

Michigan — Great offensive potential should mark a strong club paced by Olympian Phil Hubbard, well again after knee surgery, Mike McGee and Allen Hardy. A good freshman group is headed by 6-9 John Garris and 6-7 Thad Garner, both prep All-Americans last year.

Michigan State — Earvin Johnson, Greg Kelser, Jay Vincent and Ron Charles are back again, and that means the Spartans should be strong contenders. Good freshmen prospects are 6-7 forward Rob Gonzalez and 6-4 guard Gerald Busby.

Minnesota — Gopher losses were heavy, but don't count them out. Kevin McHale (6-11) and James Jackson (6-4) are proven performers. A super freshman corps is headed by 6-10 center Gary Holmes and 6-4 guard Darryl Mitchell.

Northwestern — Four 1977-78 starters plus seven-foot center transfer Brian Jung are the nucleus. Mike Campbell (6-10) and guards Jerry Marifke, Rob Roberson and Brian Gibson are capable returnees. Top freshmen are 6-7 Larry Lumpkins, 6-7 Jim Stack and 6-8 Bob Grady.

Purdue — Center Joe Barry Carroll (7-1) and guard Jerry Sichting are key returnees on a club hard hit by graduation losses. Brother transfers Brian and Steve Walker plus freshmen Keith Edmonson and JC All-America Arnette Hallman (6-8) will help fill holes.

Wisconsin — Arnold Gaines, Claude Gregory and Joe Chnelich plus academically reinstated Wes Matthews give the Badgers a formidable veteran quintet. Keith Mitchell (6-9), James Smith (6-6½) and Gary Zinkgraf (6-7) are promising freshmen.

Ohio State Fight Songs

The Cheerleaders

ACROSS THE FIELD

Fight that team across the field,
Show them Ohio's here,
Set the earth reverberating with a mighty cheer
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Hit them hard and see how they fall;
Never let that team get the ball,
Hail! Hail! the gang's all here,
So let's win that old conference now.

CARMEN OHIO

Oh! Come let's sing Ohio's praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer's heat or Winter's cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship O-hi-o.

BUCKEYE BATTLE CRY

In old Ohio there's a team,
That's known thru-out the land;
Eleven warriors, brave and bold,
Whose fame will ever stand,
And when the ball goes over,
Our cheers will reach the sky,
Ohio Field will hear again
The Buckeye Battle Cry —.

Drive! Drive on down the field,
Men of the scarlet and gray;
Don't let them thru that line,
We have to win this game today,
Come on, Ohio!
Smash thru to victory
We cheer you as we go:
Our honor defend
So we'll fight to the end for O Hi o.
